Marcia Williams made a comment.

Jeff Tyndall made a comment.

John Gannon made a comment.

Jeff Tyndall explained that the board needs to be objective when viewing the mural and understand that according to the rules they should be looking at how the unpainted brick was painted and more than three colors were used. They are to remain neutral as to the content of the mural when making their decision.

Doug Jones asked if the Starry Night mural on the side of the 420 building was considered signage.

Jeff Tyndall stated that it was before his employment.

Brent Clemons stated it was before his time.

Jeff Tyndall clarified on if it ever came before the board.

Doug Jones stated that it did.

David Smith said that it was initiated through the Clean, Green, and Save committee.

Doug Jones made a comment.

Jeff Tyndall said it was back when TRC adjudicated the CDRB board.

Marcia Williams asked if it was previously painted white and elaborated on if the renters were aware they needed permission.

Jeff Tyndall stated that they needed to keep in mind staff's two points that they presented when making their decision about the case.

David Smith stated that the guidelines need to be more readily available to people buying and leasing buildings downtown.

Jeff Tyndall said that the Regional Planning Commission could collaborate with Building and Codes to create a handbook for people owning/leasing properties downtown.

Wanda Smith made a motion to accept. Seconded by James Bagby. Wanda Smith, James Bagby, Doug Jones voted in favor. Marcia Williams voted against. Motion carries 3-1.

Thomas Brennan made a comment.

Jeff Tyndall made a comment.

Thomas Brennan asked if when an H-1 permit was pulled, does building and codes have a rule guide.

Jennifer Rudolph made a comment about how in the real estate stage of the process that business owners and renters should be made aware of the rules regarding H-1.

Olasubomi Aka-Bashorun stated that he understands there is rules, but the inconsistency with enforcing the rules causes confusion to constituents. Ola expressed concerns over how he was treated in the past when he painted a mural. He asked how it could be considered signage when it doesn't have any advertisement. He voiced concerns over the public's perception of the rainbow in the mural and that they make think this was a targeted attack due to that since it has now been brought in front of the board when those in the past without the rainbow flew under the radar. He mentioned that other cities similar in size around us all have public displays of creativity to draw people into downtown.

Marcia Williams made a motion to adjourn. Seconded by Wanda Smith. Meeting adjourned at 3:35 p.m.
