Fee and Review Policies:

Preliminary and Final Plat Review Policy:

Following the submittal of a site plan, preliminary subdivision, or final plat including staff level reviews, the RPC will provide initial staff and department comments to the project engineer or surveyor. Included in the originally submitted fee is a maximum of two (2) revised plats may be submitted to address the original comments. Each subsequent revision will require a fee equal to 25% of the original application fee. In the case that significant changes to the property or area have occurred or an oversight by a department or the RPC staff no revision fee will be required.

Revisions to Subdivisions and Site Plans:

Applications for subdivisions or site plan reviews that undergo major revisions after submission or require resubmittal to reviewing departments may, at the discretion of staff, be deferred and withheld from placement on an agenda until sufficient time is available for comprehensive review by all parties.

For site plans and subdivisions that go before the RPC for action, all revisions must be provided to the staff by the close of business the day before the informal RPC meeting to avoid being deferred to the following month.

60-Day Subdivision Review Requirement:

Any subdivision plans which are revised and provided after an RPC Board deferral will be considered a new subdivision review and will reset the TCA 13-3-404(a) 60-day review period in which the RPC must approve or disapprove a plat or subdivision.
